

OCCK-Doug Wilson

This is a summary of my phone conversation with Doug on April 4, 2012. He lives at [REDACTED] home phone is [REDACTED]

He went to the grocery store the night Tim was abducted and remembered the Orange skateboard. Tim was talking to a young man 25-30 years old. There was also an older man in a Lemans who was staring at Doug. When Doug told this story to his wife she encouraged him to talk to the FBI. When he did not do this voluntarily, his wife called the FBI. He agreed to be hypnotized.

During hypnosis he recalled things he did not immediately remember. He recalled the last 3 digits on the Lemans as 222. The guy in the Lemans must have disturbed him if he checked out the license plate. He had just purchased car and he thought the older guy may have wanted to steal the car. I forget the model but it was a new sports model and may have been a new Alfa(?).

He was hypnotized for 4 hours. After the hypnosis there was a discussion about the Blue Gremlin. He was told it was a false lead because they had an imprint from a snow drift indicating the car involved was a Lemans. They did not want this word on the street because it might forewarn the Lemans owner.

Years later he watched a TV program on Wayne Gacy. Gacy had a resemblance to the older guy in the Lemans.
