MISSING - NEVER FOUND

Kim Marie Larrow

Left: Larrow, circa 1981;
Right: Age-progression to age 43 (circa 2008)

Vital Statistics at Time of Disappearance

- Missing Since: June 8, 1981 from Canton, Michigan
- Classification: Endangered Missing
- Date of Birth: December 17, 1965
- Age: 15 years old
- Height and Weight: 5'5, 120 pounds
- Distinguishing Characteristics: Caucasian female. Blonde hair, blue/green eyes.

Details of Disappearance

Larrow was last seen on the evening of June 8, 1981. She had recently moved from her father's home on Eggert Road in Dundee, Michigan to her mother's residence on Beaufort Drive in Canton. She was in Canton for only about a week when she vanished. She was last seen at the ice cream parlor near Sheldon Road and Ann Arbor Road. Larrow's best friend worked there and the girls made plans to meet at Haggerty Field in Hines Park that night. She never arrived at the park and has never been heard from again. She wasn't reported missing for several days, and her mother refused to cooperate with the investigation.

Larrow's loved ones describe her as a rebellious teenager who used drugs and frequently ran away, but they stated there were no major issues in her life. Much of her family lived in the Ida, Michigan area, and she spent every weekend with an aunt there. Larrow's father died in 2005, but other relatives are still looking for her. She had no driver's license or Social Security number at the time of her disappearance. Her disappearance is considered a missing person case rather than a crime, as there is no evidence of foul play.

Dean Marie Peters

Bottom Right: Age-progression to age 40 (circa 2006)

Vital Statistics at Time of Disappearance

- Missing Since: February 5, 1981 from Grand Rapids, Michigan
- Classification: Non-Family Abduction
- Date Of Birth: September 24, 1966
- Age: 14 years old
- Height and Weight: 5'2 - 5'3, 110 pounds
- Distinguishing Characteristics: Caucasian female. Brown hair, brown eyes. Peters's nickname is Deanie. She smokes cigarettes, her ears are pierced and she has a birthmark on her lower back. Some agencies give her last name as "Pyle Peters."
- Clothing/Jewelry Description: A brown ski jacket, a pink sweater, 27- to 32-inch Levi's blue jeans, white bikini panties, a size 34C Bali bra, a cream-colored scarf with the word "ski" written on it in dark brown letters, and white knee socks.

Details of Disappearance

Peters was last seen at at Forest Hills Central Middle School in the 5800 block of Ada Drive southeast in Grand Rapids, Michigan at 5:00 p.m. on February 5, 1981. She was at her six-year-old brother's wrestling practice with her mother when she said she was going to the women's restroom and would be back shortly. Peters never returned and has not been heard from since. Peters apparently never arrived at the restroom; no one saw her anywhere near there. She was last seen walking out the door of the gymnasium; accounts differ as to whether she was going to a friend's home or merely wanted to smoke a cigarette. She left her wallet, purse, makeup, jewelry, clothing and several hundred dollars behind at home.

Arthur Diaz, the school's custodian, was considered a possible suspect in Peters's disappearance for many years. He stated he was cleaning a school office the night of her disappearance and never saw her. Authorities checked the school incinerator on the theory that someone might have tried to burn her body, but found no evidence. Diaz is no longer a suspect in Peters's case.

Another suspect is a local man, Bruce Bunch, who was seventeen years old and a high school junior in 1981. Over twenty years after Peters's disappearance, a female acquaintance of Bunch told police he told her a story about running over a girl at a school. Bunch allegedly said he either ran or backed over the girl, took her body to Snow Avenue and buried it under a pile of rocks. This story has not been confirmed, but Bunch remains a suspect in Peters's disappearance. His first wife stated he was violent and abusive towards her and, after drinking heavily, would sometimes black out and have no memory of what he did. She stated he once pushed her out of a moving vehicle and broke her ankle, and on another occasion threatened to run her off the road. Bunch died of a heart attack in 2008. He was never charged or questioned in Peters's case. In 2011, authorities announced they believe he was responsible for Peters's death.

Two days before she disappeared, Peters had a physical altercation at school with two other girls. They were fighting over a boy, and the two girls allegedly threatened Peters and told her to stay away from the boy. It's unclear whether the incident had anything to do with her later disappearance. Peters was not having any serious problems with her family when she disappeared, she was a good student, and she does not have a prior history of running away from home. Several possible suspects were questioned after her disappearance, but no one has ever been charged. She was an eighth-grader in 1981, and aspired towards a career as a model. She is originally from California, and her biological father was living there in 1981. Her mother and stepfather, with whom she lived, moved to Arizona after her disappearance. Her stepfather has been ruled out as a suspect in her case.

Peters was declared legally dead in 1991. In 2008, authorities reopened the investigation into her disappearance and appealed for anyone who was at the school that day to contact them. Her case remains unsolved.

Kimberly Alice King

Right: Age-progression to age 43 (circa 2009)

Vital Statistics at Time of Disappearance

- Missing Since: September 16, 1979 from Warren, Michigan
- Classification: Non-Family Abduction
- Date Of Birth: October 21, 1966
- Age: 12 years old
- Height and Weight: 5'5, 105 pounds
- Distinguishing Characteristics: Caucasian female. Blonde hair, blue eyes. Kimberly's nickname is Kim. She has a gap between her upper front teeth and her upper incisor is peg-shaped.
- Clothing/Jewelry Description: A blue sweater and Levi's jeans.

Details of Disappearance

Kimberly spent the night of September 15, 1979 at a friend's residence across the street from her grandparents' home in Warren, Michigan. At 11:00 p.m., she called her sister and said she had sneaked out of her friend's home and was calling from an outdoor phone booth not far away. Her sister told her to go back inside. Kimberly never returned to her friend's home, however, and has never been heard from again.

Authorities are uncertain what pay phone Kimberly was calling her sister from. She said it was a short walk from her grandparents' home, but one witness said he saw her using the phone several miles away. Her case was originally classified as a possible runaway. There are few clues as to Kimberly's whereabouts, but her case is classified as a non-family abduction with probable foul play involved in her disappearance. Investigators learned that Kimberly may have traveled to Grand Rapids, Michigan after her disappearance, but the leads did not pan out. Although one of Kimberly's sisters had run away from home several times and Kimberly herself was known to occasionally stay out until late at night, she does not have a history of runaway behavior and authorities no longer believe she left of her own accord.

Authorities theorized that Kimberly may have been a victim of a serial killer of children in Oakland County, Michigan. The killer, nicknamed "The Babysitter" because he bathed and fed the children prior to their deaths, is believed to be responsible for the abductions and homicides of two boys and two girls around King's age in 1976 and 1977. The children were all held captive for several days before being slain. No one has ever been charged in connection with any of the murders. If Kimberly was a victim of the killer, her case is atypical; in the other cases, the victim's bodies were left out in plain view by roadways and were found fairly quickly, but Kimberly's remains have never been located.

David Norberg was considered a suspect in the case for many years. He was employed in Warren at the time of Kimberly's 1979 disappearance, and lived just two streets away from her home. He was killed in an automobile accident near Recluse, Wyoming in 1981. After his death, jewelry allegedly belonging to several of the Oakland County child victims was found among his belongings. Norberg was never charged in connection with any of Kimberly's disappearance or any of the murders, however.

Norberg's body was exhumed in September 1999 and his DNA was compared to a single strand of unidentified hair discovered on the final murder victim, Timothy King (no relation to Kimberly). In November 2002, Authorities announced that Norberg's DNA did not match the hair found on Timothy, but that they were not ruling him out entirely as a suspect. He fits the serial killer's profile very well and there is circumstantial evidence linking him to the murders. Investigators still think he might have been involved in Kimberly's apparent abduction if not the murders. The Oakland County serial killer has never been identified, but one male victim's family sued a suspect, Ted Lamborgine, for his wrongful death in 2007. It is not clear whether Kimberly was a victim of the same person who killed the others.

Kimberly's grandmother died in 1995. Prior to her death, she purchased a cemetery plot for her granddaughter. Kimberly's two sisters still hope she may be located. Her case remains unsolved.

Cynthia Coon

Vital Statistics at Time of Disappearance

- Missing Since: January 19, 1970 from Washtenaw County, Michigan
- Classification: Endangered Missing
- Date Of Birth: March 24, 1956
- Age: 13 years old
- Height and Weight: 5'4, 110 pounds
- Distinguishing Characteristics: Caucasian female. Brown hair, brown eyes. Coon has straight teeth with no fillings; prior to her disappearance, she had never received any dental care.

Details of Disappearance

Coon departed from her family's residence in Washtenaw County, Michigan during the morning hours of January 19, 1970. She was en route to her school in Ann Arbor, Michigan at the time. Coon never arrived there as scheduled and has never been seen again.

Coon called her family members on April 1, 1970 and April 2, 1970. She did not know her whereabouts at the time of the two telephone conversations. Coon has not been heard from again. Her relatives received an extortion-type phone call on May 5, 1970, nearly four months after she disappeared. There has not been any other communication regarding Coon's case since that time.

Investigators thought Coon might have been an unidentified female whose remains were found at a dump in Florida in 1973, but the unidentified victim had crooked teeth and Coon's teeth were straight. Her disappearance remains unsolved.

Vital Statistics at Time of Disappearance

- Missing Since: October 31, 1969 from Oscoda, Michigan
- Classification: Endangered Missing
- Date of Birth: May 25, 1954
- Age: 15 years old
- Height and Weight: 5'6 - 5'8, 100 - 115 pounds
- Distinguishing Characteristics: Caucasian female. Brown hair, brown eyes. Hobley has a scar on the bridge of her nose and a scar or birthmark on the left corner of her mouth. Her nickname is Pam.
- Clothing/Jewelry Description: A three-quarter-length white fake fur coat with brown fur trim, a long-sleeved blouse with ruffled cuffs, a brown and white plaid skirt, white kneesocks and chunky shoes with a thick heel.

Details of Disappearance

Hobley was last seen in Oscoda, Michigan on October 31, 1969, the day of their high school's homecoming football game. She and another student, Patricia Spencer, may have skipped their afternoon classes at school. The two girls knew each other but weren't friends. They were last seen together at 2:00 p.m., walking on River Road away from the school, towards the business district. Neither of them has ever been heard from again.

Spencer and Hobley weren't carrying their purses or identification with them at the time of their disappearances. At first authorities thought they had run away, possibly to the Flint, Michigan area, but they reconsidered this theory after weeks passed without contact. Foul play is suspected in their cases, which remain unsolved.
