

IN AUDIENCE.

TV Viewers Think They See Oakland Child Murder Suspect

- CHANNEL 7's "A M. Detroit" show, which was broadcasting a program on the recent Oakland County child murders Wednesday, received eight calls from viewers who thought they saw the murder suspect in the audience. The man, who the callers thought looked like a police composite drawing of the suspect, asked a question of Jerry Tobias of the Oakland County task force probing the case. Tobias said the task force will check the fellow out Thursday.

Soapy Runs Out of Gas

- MICHIGAN SUPREME COURT Justice G. Mennen Williams had his problems getting from his Grosse Pointe Farms home to his downtown Detroit office Wednesday. He spotted a friend waiting for a bus on E. Jefferson and turned his car around. He didn't get far, though, because the car ran out of gas. But Wayne County Circuit Judge Peter Spivak came by soon and drove Williams' friend to a nearby gas

